

PHILOSOPHICAL VORTEX

Por Alberto JIMÉNEZ URE

PRELUDE

«Every moment of my life I think about something related to freedom, property, health, social security, family, fraternal neighborhood, work and progress: in the dignity that, after more than half a century of existence, was confiscated by different governments that they would never her have recognized as legitimate»

«There are blacks who live to kill people of their same race or others, and whites with identical criminal characteristics. Fostering irrational violence related to the death of some violates our right to live in peace» [01]

«The state man is who corrects under the advice of the best professionals in different fields of knowledge, one of which, perhaps the most important, the Economics. He does not want flattery, to be the principal forever: he seeks to strengthen his nation, preventing him from committing suicide by promoting messianic parasitism» [02]

«There are no statutes or laws in favor of the Universal Rights of the Human Being that, intimately or publicly, do not scoff [with boldness] the world's notables» [03]

«I will be your friend every time someone harasses you, and you will also help me in the face of any threat I experience: humanism is a music festival where fraternity consists in understanding that governments should not own any person» [04]

«I am not threatened by the enemies of those who [looking at him at a disadvantage to defend myself] hit my back with a rifle in a failed attempt to force myself to kneel before them: implore them not to kill me and polish their boots» [05]

«Millions of human beings feeling well distancing themselves politically: that is democracy» [06]

«The Post Modern Concept of Political Hegemony is not all the starving-sick people raised in arms to defend their homeland from imaginary foreign aggressors, but immolated for opposing to lead a miserable life: countercultural and inhuman» [07]

«Everything, until eternity, culminates» [08]

«If a nation besieged by a terrorist group has a legitimate President, I infer: is it logical the political discourse that qualifies as a dictator an enemy subject of the people who are only leaders of a band of criminals in fights for the control of the republic that sodomizes?»

[09]

«In the course of my life, I have spoken endless times with my friend Lucifer: to whom. I admit, I have challenged by asking you to grant me power over the denotation of nuclear bombs. I will not reveal what he has told me about my desire and his decision» [10]

«I was not born indignant or angry, but I soon learned that violence outweighs peaceful behavior and today I admit that without it it is not possible to keep peoples in balance» [11]

«The terrorists [who keep us hostage, under absolute control and in situation of misery] have enough dollars in cash to resist any blockade of assets of the Republic of Venezuela. I suggest a rapid military intervention to restore what, without weapons, a kneeling people cannot» [12]

«My generation [and next] of Venezuelan intellectuals were inclined to kneel before the deceptive offers of Socialism, which has been [public and notorious] Doctrinal Terrorism: they gave me no respite in journalistic controversies, neither did they. But, during those days, Venezuela was not destroyed as it is today and the youngest politicians flirt with that system while pretending to be libertarians: hurting us, mocking a prematurely sick and aging people» [13]

«Capitalism has a point of equilibrium in free competition that the socialists criminalize after perverting it, through the punishable practice of hoarding by their adherent speculative mafias. The model that allows many to offer generates progress, he who hides them to kill for political domination purposes is his antithesis» [14]

«Writers must assume a responsibility that goes beyond writing fictions, reality demands that let's eliminate the morons from power» [15]

«The psychopathology [that fertilizes the birth of a lethal threat] drains the hoarding of madness with its enormous burden of hostility» [16]

«The terrorists [who keep us hostage, under absolute control and in situation of misery] have enough dollars in cash to resist any blockade of assets of the Republic of Venezuela. I suggest a rapid military intervention to restore what, without weapons, a kneeling people cannot» [17]

«My generation [and next] of Venezuelan intellectuals were inclined to kneel before the deceptive offers of Socialism, which has been [public and notorious] Doctrinal Terrorism: they gave me no respite in journalistic controversies, neither did they. But, during those days, Venezuela was not destroyed as it is today and the youngest politicians flirt with that system while pretending to be libertarians: hurting us, mocking a prematurely sick and aging people» [18]

«Capitalism has a point of equilibrium in free competition that the socialists criminalize after perverting it, through the punishable practice of hoarding by their adherent speculative mafias. The model that allows many to offer generates progress, he who hides them to kill for political domination purposes is his antithesis» [19]

«Writers must assume a responsibility that goes beyond writing fictions, reality demands that let's eliminate the morons from power» [20]

«The enemies of Terrorism must understand that in Venezuela we do not have a government, but an indigestible and still unbridled act of vandalism of immense proportions» [21]

«Tragic when a young man [with popular support] becomes a political waste, but just as his followers persist stubbornly for so long that this dramatic situation can not be repaired» [22]

«It is unlikely that any philosopher, theologian, writer or researcher of the Social Sciences could refute my thesis according to which the end of the world is in process» [23]

«Bureaucrats in command in different areas only serve to inflict cruel and degrading treatment [psychological or physical] on those who only yearn to live comfortably» [23]

«No one who is not a thug can declare himself a happy citizen where barbarians have destroyed what is understood as a State of Nationals [their education, culture, infrastructure, companies, hospitals and economy] to reign as necrophiles» [24]

«It is not of revolutionaries to kill individuals or crowds, prohibit citizens from feeding, torture them» [25]

«I do not admit or concede to live in terror because of the possibility that all my wishes may break into the reality I experience» [27]

«We are born to be infamous and forcibly accept that we are fighters, which is a calamity: in legitimate defense or morbid, we hit others to survive-super live and die trying» [28]

«I wrote and published two books that testify to the encounters between a fiction maker [me] and the dark occult». I not to attribute to the devil the cruelty that some people develop against our species» [29]

«Those who commit crimes where they live become outsiders, and those who kill them are heroes» [30]